

The image is a detailed architectural floor plan of the RZUT Piwnic building. The plan is oriented horizontally, with the main entrance area on the left. The building features a complex arrangement of rooms, corridors, and a central circular area. The plan includes numerous dimensions and room numbers, indicating a detailed design for a large institutional building. The layout is symmetrical, with a central corridor running through the middle. The rooms are labeled with numbers, and the dimensions are given in meters. The plan also shows the location of various rooms, such as the main entrance, reception area, and lecture halls. The overall design is functional and efficient, with a clear flow of movement throughout the building.
